Grandparents Day

Eight-year-old Alison Bicknell, a second-grader at the Bancroft School, shows her grandfather, Francis P. Bicknell, the plant she is growing in class during the school's annual Grandparents Day. Grandparents Day at Bancroft is traditionally held after Mother's Day, so those grandparents from out-of-town who are visiting their families can plan to stay an extra day to see their grandchildren at work. ## Town To Relieve North Andover's Polluted Thirst

By Susan K. O'Neill

Selectmen Monday night unanimously voted to authorize Town Manager Kenneth Mahony to sell water to North Andover and to make any connections needed for a hook-up between the towns.

"I put this on (the agenda) so that I have the authority, should they request," explained Mahony. He said that North Andover had not yet asked for the service, which has been discussed as a possible alternative to that town's use of its own giardia-contaminated water supply.

According to Robert McQuade, the head of Andover's Department of Public Works, the actual process of sharing water would be "fairly simple. On our side, it's easy," he said. "There is some work that has to be done on the North Andover side."

McQuade said that connections between the two towns had already been put in place during one of the Andover system's more recent upgrades. Among other easily-made additions which will have to be made to the Andover system, he said, will be double sets of check valves. These, together with the comparatively higher water pressure in Andover, will ensure that there will be no back-wash of North Andover's water, he explained.

North Andover's executive secretary, Keith Bergman, attended the meeting. "I appreciate the support that Andover is giving us, as evidenced by the vote," he said. He said that it is likely that North Andover will have to rely on Andover; "It appears now that next Tuesday, there will be a definitive plan put before the DEQE (State Department of Environmental Quality Engineering) that will feature interconnections with Haverhill, Lawrence and Andover," he said.

As to when North Andover taps would actually run water from the three neighboring communities, Bergman said that the time would depend upon construction necessary to make the connection. "I would say it should be a matter of weeks," he speculated.

According to Mahony, Andover already sells water to Tewksbury and North Reading, and has augmented the Lawrence system in past emergency situations.

Prior to the vote, which brooked virtually no discussion, McQuade presented an update on Andover's water system. It included a brief history of the system, a slide presentation, and a videotaped tour of the Haggetts Pond treatment plant.

According to McQuade, Andover's water budget has grown from a $9,700 stipend, raised in 1886 for connections to protect the downtown from fire, to a 1986 total of roughly $1.25 million. The town's water consumption, too, has grown: from approximately 2,000,000 gallons per day in 1958, to a 1986 range of 5 to 11 million.

Andover's water comes from the Fish Brook, Haggetts Pond and, when warranted, the Merrimack River, said McQuade. It is exposed to the air and sun in Haggetts Pond, then pumped into the treatment plant.

There, it passes through screens, is chemically treated, and is subjected to sedimentation, filtration, aeration and other treatments to render it free from both visible pollutants and microorganisms.

The combination of pretreatment with alum (which induces pollutants to coagulate and, ultimately, settle out), filtration, chlorination and detention of treated water in a 2,000,000-gallon under-

Proclamation Permits Approved

On Monday night, the Board of Selectmen proclaimed May "Bicycle Safety Month."

The board granted the following permits:

To the Mass. Electric Co. and New England Telephone and Telegraph, permission to locate a pole on Lovejoy Road, across from the Sanborn School.

To New England Telephone, permission for work on underground lines at locations on Phillips Street, six locations on Andover Street, Argilla Road, three locations on Dascumb Road, Farrwood Drive, Poor Street and two locations on Jenkins Road.

To Mass. Electric, permission to erect poles, wires and fixtures at Andover By-Pass Route 125 and Chandler Road, and to construct underground conduits across Lovejoy Road.

The unanimous votes followed extensive informational discussions between abutters to the areas in question and spokesmen for both companies.

The board also granted permission to the Bay State Gas Co. for excavations to install new services in locations on Haverhill Street, Beacon Street and Chandler Road.

Requests for sewer connections at six locations on Sparta Way were also granted.

In addition, the board granted Kevin Seifert, of 16 Ivy Lane, a common victualler's license for pushcarts.

Finally, the Andona Society received permission to block off Whittier Court from Chesnut Street through to the parking lot from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. on May 17 for their annual Clown Town.

Camp Evergreen Expands

Camp Evergreen is preparing for its 23rd summer of day camp and much more. Two generations of Loscutoffs have gathered a staff of counselors who love the outdoors and have provided for eight weeks of summer camp for youngsters 3½-14.

Parents have been equesting to come to camp, some seriously and some hopefully. Jim Loscutoff, Jr., has combined some of his own special talents with those of many of his staff and is offering camping programs for the entire family and for adults only as well. A family outdoor cooking program, private and group tennis lessons after the regular camp day and a PADI scuba course will be given.

Jim Loscutoff, Sr., who started this private independent day camp in Andover after his retirement from the Boston Celtics in 1964, is happy to turn over free reign to his son, Jim, and the many staff members who have been with him for so many years. Their creative abilities and interests have expanded the facilities and programs. This past winter skiing and skating programs during school vacation were added.

Outdoor cooking for the family will run three Tuesdays, beginning July 8. Recipes will be demonstrated by Jim, Jr. and will range from cooking an egg on a rock to camper stew. Of course, families will cook their own foods and enjoy a swim together as well.

Joe Gallo will teach tennis. He has been a camper and then counselor at Camp Evergreen for the past 13 years. Private and group lessons will be available starting July 7 through August 13 from 5 p.m. to 6:30 p.m.

PADI scuba lessons will be available to ages 14 and over who have passed the swimming requirements. Lessons begin Wednesday, July 15, at 5 p.m. for five weeks for two hours.

Expanding the utilization of the Camp Evergreen facilities enables many of the parents of campers to partake of many of the activities their children have experienced during the day.

The Christ Church Nursery School, 25 Central St., Andover, is planning the addition of an afternoon program for four and five-year-olds, beginning with the 1986-87 school year. The school will present an open house on Wednesday, May 21, at 7 p.m. for all parents interested in enrolling their child in this new program. Parents will have a chance to meet the director/teacher and staff, see a slide show of the school and tour the facilities. Applications will be available and admissions will be on a first-come, first-serve basis. Financial aid is available. For further information, contact Debby Hughes.

Academy To Receive Energy Grant

Massachusetts Energy Secretary Sharon M. Pollard has announced that Phillips Academy in Andover has been selected to receive a grant for energy conservation improvements in the amount of $114,500. The grant is being awarded under the federally-funded Institutional Conservation Program of the Executive Office of Energy Resources.

The Institutional Conservation Program provides matching grants to public and private non-profit schools and hospitals to provide these non-taxpaying institutions with the financial incentive to make energy conservation investments and, ultimately, to reduce their energy consumption. The grants are used to fund the purchase and installation of cost-effective energy conservation measures in schools.

In announcing the grant, Pollard stated, "I am pleased to announce this energy award. Energy costs are a significant portion of every school's and hospital's budget in the Commonwealth. Through this program it is my hope that we can begin to reduce this financial burden on these non-profit institutions and we can save valuable energy for our citizens."

The grant to Phillips Academy was one of 18 awards announced by Pollard, totalling $1,320,498.

Andover Bank Completes Conversion

Andover Savings Bank has announced it has completed processing orders received in its subscription offering of 5,000,000 shares of its Common Stock to be issued in connection with its conversion from mutual to stock form of organization. The offering was concluded April 7.

Due to the high level of interest among subscribers, the offering was significantly over-subscribed. As a result, the bank has applied the allocation procedure provided in the regulations of the Massachusetts Commissioner of Banks and the Plan of Conversion to allocate the 5,000,000 available shares among subscribers. The allocation procedure took into account a subscriber's deposit balances at Andover Savings Bank on June 30, 1985, in relation to deposit balances of all other subscribers.

Subscribers were mailed a notice of the number of shares they were allocated on Saturday, May 3. If, under the allocation procedure, the bank was unable to honor the full amount of a subscription order, the balance of the subscription payment, with interest, will be mailed to the subscriber or credited to his account at the bank.

Commenting on the successful completion of the subscription offering, Robert M. Henderson, president of Andover Savings Bank, stated, "We're very pleased with the substantial level of support for the bank demonstrated by the enthusiastic response of our depositors to the subscription offering."

The bank also announced that certain subscription orders received in the subscription offering presented potential violations of the regulations of the Massachusetts Commissioner of Banks and the Plan of Conversion. The bank is cooperating fully with governmental authorities who are reviewing these cases. Commenting on the review, Henderson stated, "After the conclusion of the subscription offering on April 7, 1986, governmental authorities became interested in the subscription orders of certain subscribers and are in the process of reviewing those cases. We believe that this review involves only a small fraction of the more than 6,500 subscriptions received by the bank. We have been assured that this review will not delay the completion of the bank's conversion."

It is currently anticipated that the conversion will be completed on Thursday, May 8, and that the bank's Common Stock will commence trading over-the-counter on the NASDAQ System under the symbol "ANDB." Stock certificates will be mailed to subscribers shortly thereafter.

The bank is a Massachusetts-chartered mutual savings bank organized in 1834 and headquartered in Andover. Based on total assets of approximately $366 million at December 31, 1985, Andover Savings Bank is the 18th largest of the 145 state-chartered savings banks in Massachusetts.

Teaching Couple To Retire After Combined 63 Years Of Service

By Susan K. O'Neill

To look at them, you wouldn't guess that Agnes and Robert Devejian have taught a combined total of more than 63 years.

There is little grey in her brown hair, and much amusement in her dark eyes. She has a presence, a self-assurance, that seems to fit the dynamic purple of her sweater.

He is trim, with amiable good looks that belie his 64 years. His manner is quiet, thoughtful, but too down-to-earth to be stereotyped as professorial.

He is, however, a professor. And she is an elementary school teacher. At the end of this school term, Agnes and Robert Devejian are both retiring—he, from the University of Lowell, where he has taught mathematics for 37 years; she, from the Andover school system, where she has worked for 26 years as a teacher, primarily of first grade.

Agnes, who was born in Biddeford, Me., went to Bates College and received her Masters in Education from Simmons. Robert, a Haverhill native, holds a B.S. from Tufts and an M.S. from Boston University. Their history as a team began in the early fifties, at a dance sponsored by an Armenian students' association.

"It's amazing how your life can change in just a moment," Robert muses. He had been out "cruising" with friends that night; one of them had remarked that there was a dance in Swampscott. He had agreed to go.

There, Robert met Agnes. Although she taught elementary school in Everett at the time, she had told him she worked in the State House. "I'd made up my mind I wasn't going to tell anyone I was a teacher," she explains. People, she felt, were quick to lump teachers into a less-than-flattering stereotype.

The ruse did not last long, once Robert told her that he was a teacher at Lowell, which was then Lowell Textile Institute.

They were married 32 years ago. Two years later, they moved to Andover. "When we came here," Agnes says, "it was really country."

In town, Agnes first taught at West Elementary—which, 26 years ago, was vastly different from the West that is now Andover's largest grammar school. "It was a small school," she remembers. "It had just 18 classrooms."

Four years later, she transferred to Sanborn School, where she taught special education and, finally, first grade. Agnes is still enthusiastic about Sanborn—which, unlike West, has remained a small school by Andover standards. "It's a close-knit school, with only 24 classrooms, with parents who care a lot," she says.

When Robert came to Lowell Textile in 1949, it, too, was "very small—very intimate. It was just one or two buildings," he says, and, as the name implies, it specialized in giving its students a textile-oriented education. In addition to teaching, he also worked in an administrative assistant capacity, setting up math programs to meet the demands of the school as it grew into Lowell Technical Institute.

In 1966, he was promoted to full professorship. He now coordinates classes in Calculus and Differential Equations that serve more than 2000 sophomore-level students per year.

Although the small textile college at which he started has grown into a University, Robert feels that his teaching job has changed little over his 37-year career. For a professor, he concedes, "The emphasis is much more today on research and publishing, than upon contributions to teaching and curriculum. But the mathematics of it doesn't change. Calculus is still calculus." Neither, he says, has the nature of the student changed. "We have a high caliber of students—with S.A.T. scores of average or above average," he says. "The kids are still the same, both good and bad."

The Devejians form a sort of mutual admiration society. When Robert says that he would like to be remembered, simply, as "a good teacher," Agnes is quick to assert that he is. "I've heard it from parents of his students," she adds.

The head of his math department, Dr. Alan Doerr, agrees. "He's probably best known for his outstanding teaching," he says. "He always ranks high in student evaluations. We have a lot of very good teachers—he's one of the best. His classes are usually very large, filled with students who seek him out."

Robert, in turn, gives his wife high grades. "Just listen to people talk about her," he says with obvious pride. "There's no question that she's an excellent teacher."

For her own part, Agnes says, "I want them to write, 'She really cared for her students'. I feel that a child will learn despite poor or good teaching. What I've always wanted to teach is the love of learning."

According to Gene Frulla, principal at Sanborn, she does her job well. "She really cares about her children," he says. "She cares that they achieve; she arranges her work so that she has time each day for each child. She works closely with the parent to try to get the best out of each child."

And, he adds, "She's a great woman—I've enjoyed working with her."

Both Agnes and Robert admit that they've thoroughly enjoyed their careers. But there comes a time, as Robert says, when "I'd got to the point where I'd had enough. Not in any negative sense; as I said, I've enjoyed every minute of it."

"I remember when I first entered teaching," says Agnes. "And I saw teachers who'd been there 20 years—it seemed so long!" She laughs. "I thought, 'I'll never

But she did. And not, she says wryly, for the money. "It's very gratifying because my colleagues are wonderful. And over is very fortunate to have the caliber of teachers it has."

But even under the best of circumstances, Agnes admits, teaching is a stressful job. She tells about a fellow teacher—one known for her honesty, which often overcomes her tact. "Once she told me, 'Oh, I saw so-and-so. You know, after a year of retirement, she looks wonderful!' Then she looked at me—" Agnes grins—"And she said, 'Ag, I can't wait to see you!'"

With increasing frequency, Agnes now finds herself reading about the approaching marriages of her former first-grade students. "It's time to leave," she says. "I don't want to have their kids."

To this, Robert adds his own tale of woe, about meeting a student whose face looked familiar. "I asked him, 'Did your brother go to Lowell?' and he said, 'No—my father did.'"

"I should tell you the real reason I'm retiring," says Agnes. "I'm not going to let him stay home alone and wave goodbye to me in the morning."

What do you do, when you retire from a lifestyle that for the last 26 or 37 years has focused upon teaching?

"We're not joining the 'great migration' (to Florida)," says Robert. "For

Scholarship To Be Offered

St. Robert's Country Day School in West Andover will offer a scholarship for the first time to a graduate of the nursery school who has been accepted at a college for autumn 1986. This year marks an anniversary for the school in that the first class of kindergarteners who attended in 1970, when the school opened, will be graduating from college this month. The scholarship is offered in their honor and to encourage other St. Robert's graduates to further their education on post-secondary levels.

Applications are available at the St. Robert Bellarmine rectory on Haggetts Pond Road or at the school Monday through Thursday from 9 a.m. to 12 noon. The amount of the scholarship is $200. A 300-word essay on "How my parents' involvement in St. Robert's Country Day School Coop helped me in understanding the need to serve others during my school years" must accompany the application. The deadline for submitting applications is May 27. The scholarship will be awarded Saturday, May 31.

St. Robert's is a non-profit, non-denominational, semi-cooperative nursery school offering a variety of programs for three, four and five-year-old children. Members of the teaching staff are fully accredited early childhood educators. Parents of students are required to serve on a committee and assist with projects throughout the school year. Also serving the school are Helen Keegan, education director, and the Parents' Board.

The school has several openings for September in its mini nursery for children who will be three years old by August 31. For further information or to schedule an appointment, contact the school registrar, Joyce Rawlinson, 2 Langley Lane, Andover.

BABY TALK

by Jack Resnick

Bassinets are the special little frilly beds newborns are traditionally put into. The baby generally spends most of his time, from birth until he is two or three months old, sleeping or playing in the bassinet. A bassinet is recommended by most doctors for a baby's first few months because it is just the right size for newborns. In utero, a baby is in a small, crowded space. The newly delivered baby probably feels more secure in a small, enclosed environment. This is why newborns are swaddled tightly in receiving blankets and why small beds or bassinets have traditionally been used for the first few months.

Annual Kite Flying Contest

The Department of Community Services sponsored its ninth annual kite flying contest Sunday, May 4, for the first time at the Andover High School hill. More than 40 kites of every size, shape and design were entered by boys and girls of all ages, trying for a first-place win and just having some high-flying fun. Photos clockwise from upper left: Eight-year-old Joshua Murphy concentrates on keeping his kite high in the air; Dan Rogaski and his five-year-old son, Justin, fly their kite in a relaxed position; Pat Alexander and her grandson Christopher, three, follow the old saying "if at first you don't succeed ...."; Kites flying at different altitudes against interesting cloud formation.

Clowntown Is Coming!

Clowntown is coming! Members of the Andona Society are preparing for the big event to be held Saturday, May 17, from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., rain or shine. Central Park in Andover will again be the scene of fun and merriment as people, young and old, come to enjoy games, amusements, rides and a variety of food.

Children will have an opportunity to ride ponies and fire trucks, wear clown makeup, have their pictures taken, buy homemade toys and animals, eat cotton candy and other goodies, and generally enjoy a day of fun in a carnival atmosphere.

The bakery table, hamburgers and hot dogs, popcorn, ice cream, Syrian salad subs, snow cones and tonic will again be available to soothe pangs of hunger. A new treat this year will be soft pretzels—a sure winner! Balloons, grabs, games of skill, button-making, clown hats and crafts, an extensive variety of white elephant items, and the big show will add to the festivities.

This year the big show features Mr. Slim's Old-Time Music and Vaudeville Revival. Two shows will be performed in the Doherty Auditorium at 11:30 and 1:30. Tickets are $1.50 and may be purchased from any Andona member or at the door. Mr. Slim promises a show for all ages incorporating juggling, song and dance and one-man band routines.

The money raised at Clowntown will be donated to various local youth activities.

Organizations receiving funds from Andona this year include: Samaritans, National Dance Institute of New England, Andover Girls' Softball, Windrush Farm, Hat Trick Club, Boy Scouts, Andover High Soccer Boosters, Young Widows and Widowers, Massachusetts Easter Seal Society, Christ Church Professional Center for Handicapped Children, Andover Council on Aging, and Memorial Hall Library for a Museum of Science pass. Andona presents three $1,500 scholarships to Andover High School and one $1,000 scholarship to the Greater Lawrence Vocational Technical School. Numerous camperships are also awarded to allow local children to participate in summer camping experiences.

Chairing this year's Clowntown are Becky Herlihy, Lucinda Gilbert, Ethel Stamm and Marilyn Gigliotti. Assisting them as individual committee chairmen are Colleen Georgian, Rosemary Radulski, Joyce Cullen, Betty Thompson, Lee Anne Center, Jeanne Carew, Jean Mavrikos, Jeanette Clinkenbeard, Joan Lee, Elaine Pothier, Margie Dresser, Geri Jacobson, Karol Needham, Katy Vehlow, Kate Allard, Janet Pratt, Pat Chalfin, Pam Kearins, Gail Schulz, Cathy Sabath, Wendy Murphy, Carol Shwetz, Mary Smith, Eileen Novelline, Betty Chapman, Alice Pascucci, Suzanne Croteau, Maureen Spinelli, Nancy Gabriel, Cindy Kelley, Janice Capeless and Shirley Margerison.

McCullom Views Washington Scene

Pat McCullom of North Andover was one of eight Governor Dummer Academy students who spent a week in Washington, D.C., recently, attending Congressional sessions and hearings and meeting with a host of officials, including a special attache to the Soviet Embassy.

McCullom, a senior at the school in Byfield, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William F. McCullom, 38 Berry St.

Led by GDA history teacher Peter Robb and Dan Cross, a 1981 graduate, the students met with Associate Justice Byron White of the Supreme Court, Rep. Nicholas Mavroules (D. MA), Rep. Robert Smith (R. NH) and Sen. John Kerry (D. MA). They sat in on various Congressional committee meetings and sessions of the Senate and the House, including the debate on aid to the Contras in Nicaragua.

The meeting with Russian Attache David Chikvaidze followed a briefing with members of the Soviet desk of the State Department. The students queried Mr. Chikvaidze on life in the USSR, arms control and the international problem of terrorism.

They also visited the Lincoln and Vietnam Veterans Memorials, Arlington National Cemetery, the Air and Space Museum and the Kennedy Center and saw the taping of Washington Week in Review.

This is the seventh year Governor Dummer students have had a week in Washington, hosted by Mrs. Merideth Horne and her son, Dan Cross.

Researcher Honored

Dr. A Douglas Nicoletti and family of Andover recently returned from an Aruba holiday and conference where Dr. Nicoletti was an honored speaker. He is the director of the A. Douglas Chiropractic Clinic and Holistic Health Center, 289 Lawrence Road, Salem, N.H. Most of his research work is done at the clinic, including his most recent discovery, Rapid Induction Desensitization (RID).

RID is a new technique for allergy detection and correction which requires no injections and whose time factor for symptomatic recovery is many times faster than present-day techniques. Dr. Nicoletti and his new discovery are gaining in popularity, as lecture invitations are coming from all over the country.

"We have had a one-third increase in our practice since my first announcement of RID and patients are coming from many far-away states, including foreign countries. I am excited over the patient acceptance of this new discovery and optimistic about its eventual adoption into traditional treatment plans," states Dr. Nicoletti.

THE CONVECTION OVEN

When moving air is added to an oven, the result is a convection oven. Unlike a radiant oven, a concealed fan circulates heated air in a constant flow. As a result, the moving air strips away the cold air around the food which acts as a thermal barrier. Heat reaches all parts of the oven more evenly. For some foods, such as large turkeys, there is a dramatic reduction in the time needed for baking and roasting. As a general rule, oven temperature can be reduced 25 degrees when pre-heating the oven. Because less oven space is needed around food for heat circulation, the oven can be filled to capacity. For instance, three-rack baking, not recommended for regular ovens, produces good results in a convection oven.

When you remodel your kitchen there are so many alternatives to the conventional items that you should be aware of. Whether it's convection or microwave ovens or the latest look in cabinets these will be just a few of the advantages you can have in a new kitchen. Come to WINDSOR KITCHENS and we'll show you the most modern, spacious cabinets that will accommodate any extra features you desire. For all types of cabinet finishes we are your complete resource at 1181 Boston Rd., Ward Hill. 9:00-5:30 Daily, Wed. 9-5, Sat. 10-3 Tel. 372-3444.

the immediate future, we plan to stay in Andover."

Agnes speculates they will have quite a bit to keep them busy at their house on Mary Lou Lane. It is a small, pleasant place, with floors covered by Oriental rugs and shelves pleasantly cluttered with figures of camels (the Devejians have collected them for years, in part because "Deve" in Armenian means "camel").

Agnes says that they'd like to spend the first year at home—

"Two years," Robert corrects her.

"Two years," Agnes sighs. "I have to clean the cellar."

The cellar aside, she says, she would like to teach illiterate adults. "I feel I'd like to do something," she says. "I want to keep my mind active—I don't want to be an old lady, sitting and knitting."

As for Robert, he says he has no definite plans. He wants to relax, to enjoy his freedom.

But Agnes is not so sure. "It wouldn't surprise me," she says, "if Bob did some part-time teaching."

Dinner

The Men of Merrimack, an organization for the support of higher education, will hold its 33rd annual dinner and membership meeting on Wednesday, May 21, at Merrimack College.

The Men of Merrimack, the 'honorary alumni' of Merrimack College, was founded in 1952 and includes more than 400 members from throughout the Merrimack Valley. Through its activities, the organization provides scholarship assistance to Merrimack students. This fiscal year, the Men of Merrimack has raised more than $40,000 for the college's scholarship fund.

The New England-style clambake will begin with an outdoor (weather permitting) cocktail party on the college campus at 5:30 p.m. Dinner will be served in Gildea Hall at 6:30 p.m.

Courtesy Notices To Be Sent On Road Bond Reductions

Tuesday night, the Board of Selectmen decided to send courtesy notices to homeowners who live on newly-built roads, advising them that the town will be reducing or releasing the bonds on those roads. The notification will begin next year, and will be done on a temporary basis until its usefulness or effectiveness is determined.

At present, residents receive notices of public hearings prior to the final acceptance of new streets at town meeting. Tuesday's decision will add a further notification, to be mailed prior to the last significant bond reduction; board members hope that it will clarify what the bond does and doesn't cover and give residents a channel through which to air concerns about the new streets before losing the problem-solving leverage inherent in the holding of bond money.

The action followed the continuation of a debate which had begun at the last meeting, causing the postponement of a bond release vote on this year's new roads. Board member Paul Curley had suggested the notice, at that time, for this year's roads—but had met with opposition from other members who considered it inappropriate at this late date.

Resuming the discussion on Tuesday, Curley acknowledged that writing notices to homeowners "is going to be a pain"—but said that he felt it would be justified "as a courtesy to the taxpayer."

Principal Planner Nancy Jeton viewed the action with some skepticism concerning what it would accomplish. "I'm willing to try it for awhile," she said, "but I don't think it's going to solve everybody's problems."

Immediately after the discussion, board members voted to release bonds on those streets voted as public ways at this year's town meeting. The streets include the Golden Oak subdivision, Winchester Drive and Cattle Crossing.

In a separate action, the board voted to accept the withdrawal by its developers of preliminary plans for the subdivision "Spencer Court," to be located off High Plain Road.

Homestay Program Needs Hosts

Thirty students from Spain will arrive in the Greater Lawrence area on July 2 for a four-week stay on the 1986 Homestay in America (HIA) program organized by the American Institute for Foreign Study (AIFS).

More local families are needed to host these junior and senior high school boys and girls, ages 13-19. Host families receive a scholarship up to $400 to be used toward the cost of enabling their own child to participate in an AIFS program of their choice worldwide in the next five years. In many cases, the American child chooses to visit the newly-made friend in Spain. Children of the American family also benefit from the direct exposure to the language and culture of Spain through their Spanish guest.

In preparation for their visit, foreign students attend orientation classes and study stay, they will attend special English classes arranged and taught by Cleveland Charles and Rose Beauchesne. A variety of afternoon and evening activities are also planned, including field trips to Sturbridge Village and Plymouth Plantation and recreational outings such as canoeing and hiking.

Families interested in participating in the HIA program may contact Cleveland Charles, 115 Vermont St., Methuen.

Yes, 1986 TAX PLANNING. What better time than NOW, when it's fresh in your mind on how much you ACTUALLY paid in 1985 taxes. Look at Line 38 on Form 1040 (Line 20 on form 1040A or Line 9 on 1040EZ) and see your REAL tax obligation for 1985. However, you not obliged to pay that amount for 1986...Unless, of course you want to.

Remember, people don't PLAN to pay more taxes, they fail to PLAN for taxes.

ground tank before release ensure that microorganisms such as giardia, bacteria and viruses cannot escape into Andover's tap water, McQuade explained.

McQuade said that treatment of the water is becoming more complicated—and more thoroughly regulated—every year. At present, regulations mandate testing for 10 pollutants; in the near future, the number will expand to 29. This list will include testing not only for microorganisms and chemicals, but for nuclear contaminants.

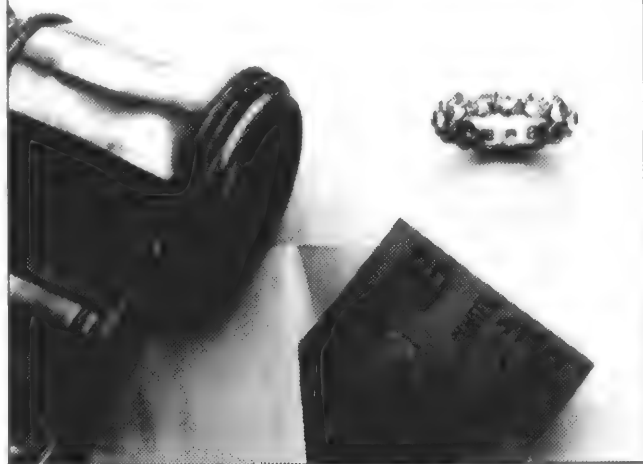

According to McQuade, Andover already tests its water for most of the 29 which will be covered.

McQuade concluded his presentation by advising Andover citizens to look with informed interest, rather than close-mindedness, upon the proposed diversion of Merrimack River waters for use by the Boston Metropolitan District Commission. The transfer of water is nothing new, he said; the amount of water to be had is adequate, and the concept of capturing flood runoffs for a water supply is not entirely without merit.

"I think that we should work to be knowledgeable, have a strong input and watch the process," he said, rather than blankly refusing to consider any of the MDC's potential proposals. If we are quick to say no, he said, nothing will be done—and, during a drought period, the taps will run dry, prompting hasty decisions that are not necessarily based on sound reasoning.

Ron Hunt, an infielder who played with various National League teams, holds the record for getting hit by pitched balls: 243.

System Donated

Visiting Nurse Association HomeCare recently was the recipient of a donation from the Rotary Club in Lawrence in the form of funding for three high-tech personal emergency response systems for use by people in the Lawrence and Greater Lawrence community.

The units enable people who live alone, are homebound, ill, elderly or convalescent to receive immediate assistance in the event of a personal emergency. From anywhere in the house, the touch of a button worn around the neck or on the wrist puts the individual in immediate two-way voice communication with a trained operator who instantly has all pertinent personal and medical information displayed on a computer screen. The operator will then dispatch the required help.

The "Voice-of-Help" units are the first of their kind in northeast Massachusetts and southern New Hampshire. "We have multiple units out in homes throughout the Merrimack Valley and southern New Hampshire," said Anita D. Freeman, VNA HomeCare executive director, "and have had several actual emergency situations testifying to the effectiveness of the units. The generosity and community service ethic of Lawrence Rotary goes a long way in helping those in need in the community," she added.

The Voice of Help units are available through VNA HomeCare on a sliding-scale fee basis. Interested persons should call VNA HomeCare.

To Host Peace Service

Faith Lutheran Church will hold an ecumenical prayer service for peace on Wednesday, May 21, at 8 p.m. The eighth in a series of nine monthly peace services held in churches throughout Andover, the service will focus on "Peace from a Personal Perspective."

The Andover Ecumenical Peace Group, involving clergy and laity from 11 Andover churches, including Phillips Academy, was formed in 1983 in response to the emerging dialogue within several local congregations on the topic of peace. Participating area churches have agreed to host one monthly ecumenical peace service and sponsor the Andover Peace Covenant, a personal covenant with one's God to pray for, study and discuss the issues of peace and to join in support of all others who are working for peace.

The service is open to all. A special copy of the Andover Peace Covenant will be available for members of the community who are not affiliated with one of the participating churches.

Christian Science Lecture

Mari Bruck

Since 1898 Christian Science churches, such as First Church of Christ, Scientist, Andover, have been sponsoring public lectures. Perhaps because their purpose has never been to proselytize, these lectures have interested many who simply would like to learn something about the convictions of their neighbors and a denomination that has been a part of this community for many years.

But the lecture in Lawrence on Thursday, May 22, is something of an historic first. According to local church members, all Christian Science lectures throughout the world during the month of May will focus on a single subject—peace. An estimated 700 May peace lectures will be heard in six continents.

Mari Bruck, C.S., will discuss "Christ's Design for Peace" at 7:30 p.m. in Sargent Auditorium of the Lawrence Public Library, 51 Lawrence St., at the corner of Haverhill Street (Route 110) and Lawrence Street.

Just what lies behind this special focus on peace was touched on recently by the denomination's board of directors who explained, "Many would agree that war is increasingly seen to be an unacceptable alternative as this 20th century draws to a close. The consequences of conflict can no longer be easily contained. Every individual today, therefore, not just governments or professional conciliators and negotiators, has a stake in waging peace, in relegating war to the dark ages of human history."

"Peace can no longer be considered a distant, utopian ideal. It must—and it can—be found a practical reality for humanity."

Bruck will point to this very individual role each has in the pursuit of peace, not only on a global scale, but also within families and communities. Even more fundamental, the lecturer points out, is the relation between the individual and his God. Drawing from the scriptures, particularly the example of Christ Jesus, the lecture will explore the spiritual basis for the fulfillment of the Biblical promise, "on earth peace, good will toward men."

Care for small children will be provided during the free lecture which is open to all who are interested in this unique approach to the subject of peace.

Survives Boating Accident

An Andover man was one of four who survived 40 minutes in the icy waters and subsequent hypothermia, when a wave capsized their 25-foot Old Town Fishing boat on Sunday morning, throwing them into the 38-degree waters where the Merrimack River flows into the Atlantic Ocean.

Salvatore Messina, 24, 44 River St., was listed as the owner and operator of the boat. He was treated and released from Anna Jacques Hospital, Newburyport, on Sunday.

Messina was fishing with four other men, Michael Chinn, 26, a Hawaii native, who is employed as a manager for a condominium conversion project at 50 Commonwealth Ave., Boston, is still missing. The search for Chinn has been hampered throughout the week by crashing 10-foot waves and strong tidal currents, according to Coast Guard officials; James Jewells, 30, Bradford Street, Lawrence, who was held in intensive care in a North Shore hospital and released on Monday; Michael DeSalvo, 25, 17 Winthrop Ave., Lawrence, and James M. Harvey, 27, of Boston, Chinn's brother-in-law, who also works on the condominium project and lives with Chinn. Jewells is still a patient at Anna Jacques Hospital. DeSalvo and Harvey were treated and released on Sunday from the Newburyport hospital. All four of the men suffered from hypothermia from exposure to the icy ocean water.

The five men were fishing in the mouth of the Merrimack that flows between the rock jetties at Salisbury and Plum Island when the accident occurred about 10 a.m. on Sunday, according to the Coast Guard.

When the men set out on Sunday morning at 7:30 a.m. they saw that the water was choppy and decided to stay inside the river mouth. When they saw other boats head out past the jetties to the open ocean, they followed, according to a Coast Guard spokesman.

Three of the survivors were saved by Stephen and Cynthia Torkelson of Acton and Paul Sarkisian of Chelmsford, who plucked them out of the water, when they heard voices while turning around and heading back up river while on a "shakedown cruise" on the Torkelson's 21-foot fishing boat. The three men were located in eight to 10-foot breaking seas and hauled aboard.

Sanborn's Pen Pals Visit

By Lisa Waterman

Some of them didn't look like their pictures, a little taller or a little shorter, but all told, the Sanborn third graders were happy to meet their pen-pals on Tuesday from the Wood School in Bradford.

The messages in a bottle have been carried to and from the Sanborn school to the Wood school in a five-gallon water bottle since January, by Jim McConaughy, coordinator of the Inter-Community Enrichment project for the Greater Lawrence Educational Collaborative in Andover.

The pen pals wrote about themselves and included photos. On Tuesday, the pen pals had a chance to meet and share a day of events. The 48 children began the day at Sanborn and then traveled by bus to the Heritage Park in Lawrence, where they saw a film on the Merrimack River, something that all the children were familiar with. The Sanborn students then traveled to Wood School to see where their Bradford pen pals went to school.

"Their school was very different, it only had four rooms and three floors," Ben Thaman, Lovejoy Road, Sanborn School, said.

The children also observed that photos can be misleading. "The photo of him looked much different. He looked shorter in person and in the picture, his eyebrows were up real high," Alan

Library Construction Work Hurts Business, Backstreet Owner Says

By Susan K. O'Neill

The Board of Selectmen once again entertained the perils of public parking Monday night, when Backstreet Restaurant owner Richard DeAngelis took the floor to protest the effect of library construction on his establishment's daytime business.

According to DeAngelis, who had previously sent a letter to the board on the subject, customers for the restaurant's growing daytime and function businesses have been discouraged from going to Backstreet because parking—both on-street and in spaces rented by the business in the nearby St. Augustine's lot—is tight. Although some space is available in the lot next to the library, vehicles and materials used in the ongoing construction of that institution's new wing either block would-be parking or give potential customers the impression that free sections of the lot are not accessible.

DeAngelis outlined possible solutions to his problem that could be implemented by the town. Among them would be the clearing of spaces in the lot of construction materials, which would allow both his customers and library personnel to park, and the lighting of parts of the lot at night. "We have put a spotlight up that shines out," he said, "but it doesn't take care of the far corners of the parking area."

He also suggested posting two-hour parking in areas around his business.

"We do have a parking problem," acknowledged chairman Charles Wesson, adding that a newly-appointed parking committee would be meeting Thursday night. He suggested that the board turn DeAngelis' suggestions over to Town Manager Kenneth Mahony for consideration.

Mahony said that the library's extensive exterior construction should be completed by September; the lot will be accessible by then, and will be open to the public.

For the present, however, said selectman Donn Byrne, "I would be a lot more comfortable if there were no non-construction parking there at this time."

"That's easy for you to say," answered DeAngelis.

Chairman Wesson broke in, advising the board that DeAngelis had come to them with a legitimate problem; he wanted to see if they could offer him a solution. It was the board's duty to listen.

Reached later, Mahony said that he is discussing the matter with DeAngelis. "We've been working with him," he said, "but I don't see how I can open it (the lot) up any more. In fact, I may have to close it down a little."

Contractors for the library construction project will need more space, he said. In addition, because it is an active construction site, parking on the lot involves a certain measure of liability—which the town has thus far assumed.

"We've bent over backward to try to help him," said Mahony. "And we'll continue to do so. We like him. He runs a good business down there; it certainly has improved the area. But there are other considerations."

Hayes Acting Chief

Monday night, the Board of Selectmen unanimously approved the appointment of Deputy Chief Harold F. Hayes as Andover's new fire chief.

Hayes will be replacing Chief William T. Downs when Downs retires from the department on August 9.

Members of the board commended Hayes on his performance during his 26 years of duty with the fire department. "We all feel it's a good appointment," said Selectman William Dalton.

Hayes joined the department in 1960 and became a lieutenant in 1963. In 1968, he was appointed deputy chief; two years ago, he became Andover's fire prevention officer.

An Andover native, Hayes lives at 24 Flint Circle with his wife, Janice. The couple have two children, Audrey-Lynn, a nurse with Lahey Clinic, and Richard, who has recently signed on as a firefighter with the Andover Fire Department.

Housing Complex To Replace Garage On Andover Line

By Lisa Waterman

The eight acres of land that once housed the Trombly Motor Coach Service, located on the Route 125 Bypass in North Andover, has been sold by Trombly for approximately $1.8 million to the Charing Cross Corp., Peabody, for the construction of 39 luxury townhouse condominiums.

Frank Trombly, who gave up his charter and Greater Lawrence-to-Boston bus service, last year, will now be running school buses only. Trombly has owned the land since 1971. The 130 by 140 foot building that now contains approximately four buses and mechanical equipment, will be removed, according to Philip Singleton of Charing Cross.

The sale was finalized last week, following a unanimous vote at the North Andover town meeting that allowed the parcel to be rezoned from industrial use to residential use.

Merrimack College officials, whose land adjoins Trombly's, were asked if they would be interested in the land, but declined, according to Singleton.

If Charing Cross receives the go ahead from North Andover's Planning Board and Conservation Commission, construction should begin around the beginning of August, with a completion date set for a year from then.

Charing and Cross are looking into two routes for water and sewage that would be supplied from the town of North Andover. The company plans to build the 39 units on four acres of the land, with the remaining four comprising a walking trail and land set aside to protect the wetlands. The town houses, which will be designed by C.S.S. Architects of Wakefield, will run about 1500 square feet and have a loft effect. The actual design has not been firmed up yet. The asking price will be approximately $275,000. The sale will be handled by the Howe Real Estate Agency Inc., Punchard Avenue, Andover.

Trombly has at least three months to find a place for the four buses and equipment that are located in the building on the site and does not foresee a problem finding a location for them, according to Mary Emma Trombly.

Ending A Year Of Celebration

The Parish of Christ Church ended its year-long celebration of their 150th Anniversary Sesquicentennial year, chaired by Tom and Sue Witham, with a birthday party and cookout for the children and a four-day flower festival. Over 100 people attended the Birthday party, co-chaired by Shirley Margerison and Cindy Townsend, held at The Pike School on Sunday, May 4th. Games, a cookout, and music made from the combination of a guitar and a dulcimer played by Mr. and Mrs. Kevin Chu added to the day's activities but the highlight of the day was the birthday cake. A three by three foot, two-level, chocolate and vanilla homemade cake with a 150 candles on it brought the day to a sweet ending. This past weekend, the church was the site for the flower festival that consisted of a two-day educational seminar on church flower arranging and two days of displaying to the public. Under the direction of Kenn Stephens, president of the International Design Symposium Ltd., and his assistant, Sally Nash, more than 40 arrangers from the New England states and towns in Massachusetts gathered as well as local Andover arrangers for the unique seminar on church flower arranging. The Christ Church Committee for this event was headed by Ila Cox, assisted by Edith King, Judy Medler, Janet Francis Russell and Betsy Williams. Photos clockwise from upper left: Shirley Margerison assists Sarah Loring in a game of blowing bubbles while other children wait their turn; Two-year-old Megan Easterman samples a taste of the cake before it is served. ## A Possible Solution

Andover officials gave permission this week to assist North Andover with the solution of their water woes on a temporary basis.

As it has done with other communities, notably Tewksbury and North Reading, Andover will supply North Andover with water until such time as the problems with the water quality there is resolved.

North Andover is in the process of planning for construction of a water treatment plant which will not be on line for at least two to two and one-half years, which actually means the town will be faced with continued problems during that period.

In light of that, an interesting point arises--one which could resolve a multitude of problems for our neighbor and possibly lead to some economies at home.

With the Andover treatment plant on line and supplying the millions of gallons of water daily to not only its own community but others as well, isn't it conceivable that a permanent arrangement could be made to permanently supply North Andover.

Having appropriated funds a year ago at town meeting for the proposed treatment plant, it is practically a foregone conclusion that by the time the town gets around to awarding a contract, North Andover will find the project underfunded.

Andover's plant is currently scheduled for expansions and improvement through funds provided at last year's town meeting. Further expansion could be implemented with North Andover funding to further enhance the filtration operation.

North Andover funds available could also be applied to expansion of pipelines where necessary and to provide protective measures where needed.

When Andover's plant was initially funded several years ago, federal funds assisted in the construction. In order to obtain those funds the town had to sign an agreement with the federal government that the facility would serve as a regional resource, if proven necessary.

While that provision may have been for emergency use only, certainly the facility seems capable of meeting the needs of both Andover and North Andover on a permanent basis.

The result of the merger, born of necessity, could well result in an economical solution to a difficult problem.

North Andover would probably realize some savings over the long run by avoiding the necessity of major construction of a treatment plant. Andover would realize some savings in their expansion program.

Overall, both communities would realize savings in staffing and maintenance of a major water system.

Frankly, it seems like something both communities should seriously explore in the interests of resolving a serious problem in North Andover in a manner which could be mutually beneficial to both towns.

The Public Forum

Chorus member Robin Prost gives her father, Ralph DePippo, a hug before boarding the bus that would take her and 80 other members of the Andover High School chorus, band and color guard to Toronto. At left, her mother, Helene DiPippo, who acted as one of the trip chaperones, looks on. During the four-day trip, the two musical groups competed in Canadian choir and field band competitions and took in amusements provided by the Toronto area.

A communication in another column urges the importance of immediate work on the Ballardvale School grounds. Bless our good Ballardvale people. They must not become too much disturbed over any delays they experience in the work they are hoping for. The grounds around the Stowe School have never been graded and we are inclined to think they need it today as much as do those at Ballardvale.

The Board of Selectmen has called a special town meeting for the evening of May 31 at 7:30 p.m. to see if the town will change its vote on the P.W.A. project so that the treasurer may borrow from the banks rather than from the Federal Government. This will permit the town to proceed at a faster rate on the project, since the treasurer will be enabled to borrow immediately.

Residents of the street appeared before the Selectmen Monday night to present their case for lessening the truck traffic on the street where there are no sidewalks. ## Good News

To The Editor Of the TOWNSMAN:

It is with great pleasure that I take the time to write this letter and share with your reading public the good news about one particular group of high school teenagers.

Recently, I, along with several other parents, acted as chaperones for the Andover High School Band which traveled to Toronto, Canada, to take part in an international music competition. Along with our group, there was also another bus with choral students from the high school.

During our four-day stay in Canada, throughout the competitions, throughout the receptions and throughout the sightseeing, I am proud to relate that the Andover High School students conducted themselves in a most courteous and respectful manner. Their decorum was highly visible to our Canadian hosts and the general public. At no time was their behavior less than commendable.

It was a satisfying feeling to witness these energetic teenagers represent so well themselves, their parents, their school, their town and their country. And, to add frosting to the cake, they even carried home awards of excellence in each competition they entered.

I salute these fine young men and women.

Andover Wins Booster Meet

The annual Andover High School Booster's Track Meet was held Saturday at Lovely Field, and the host team, Andover, captured top honors with a total of 259 points. Over a dozen teams from the Merrimack Valley and surrounding communities competed in the day-long meet consisting of track and field events. The Golden Warrior boys were led by first-place finishes from Mike Hogg in the pole vault (12-6) Jon Lecomte in the 100-meter dash, 11.2 and John Yeserski in the mile, 4:29.1. The Andover relay team also picked up a win. For the girls, Karen Hodginson set a new standard in the shot put with a heave of 43-3/4, while Kelly Abercrombie posted a record triple jump mark of 35-8. Kelly was also selected as the girl's Most Valuable Player. The Andover 4 x 110 relay team also finished first. ## Andover Wins Boosters

By Bob Manning

For the 25th time in 27 years, the Andover High School track teams won the Andover Boosters Invitational track meet. In this meet the boys and girls scores are combined and the final total determines the winner.

History repeated itself this year, but it was an uphill battle for the Golden Warriors. An always strong Reading team made an exceptionally tough bid for the win, but Andover was able to hold on. Andover and Reading both won ten separate events, but it was Andover's depth that made the difference.

There were two school and meet records broken on Saturday, both by Andover girls. Kelly Abercrombie set the school and meet record in the triple jump at 35'8" and Karen Hodgkinson set both records in the shot put with a throw of 43'3 3/4". Both girls also held the previous records. Kelly also won the girls 440 with a time of 61.4 seconds and played a key role in the one-mile relay which took second place. It was her solid all-around performance that won her the girls Eagle Tribune MVP award. This award goes to the competitor who most contributes to her team's success. This is the second year in a row that she won this award.

First places: Karen Hodgkinson, shot 43' 3 3/4"; Kelly Abercrombie, triple jump 35'8", 440, :61.4; Windy Carothers, 100 meters :13.0

Nicole Demaso, 220, :26.7; Mike Hogg, pole vault, 12'6"; John Lecomte, 100 meters, :11.2; Jon Yeserski, 1 mile, 4:29.1; Sue Santigati, Demaso, Katie Regan, Carothers, 440 relay, :51.6; Tim Perry, Peter Barry, Chris Dorsey, John Lecomte, 440 relay, :45.6.

Boys Split—Girls Roll

By Bob Manning

The boys' track team lost for the first time in dual competition this season against Chelmsford. Chelmsford swept two events and was first and second in two more. This combination left Andover 32 points in the hole. The boys made a valiant effort, but came up short in the 78-62 loss.

The girls, however, had a much better day. They swept two events and that was all the momentum they needed as they held on to a 73-58 win over the Chelmsford girls.

The boys soon bounced back. Three days after the tough loss, P.A. fell to the Andover team. Though the boys swept only the pole vault, they took first and second in five events and cruised to an 84-61 victory.

The girls continued their unbeaten streak by also defeating P.A. on Saturday. They swept four events leading to a 96-40 win. The girls were led in both meets by Karen Hodgkinson, Nicole Demasso, Kate Pierson and Windy Carothers.

The boys received strong performances all week by Jon Yezerski, John Lecomte, Craig Buscema, Bill Dalton and Mike Hogg.

Track Boosters Meet

The Andover Track Boosters will hold a meeting Tuesday, May 20, at 7:30 p.m. at the Andover Gallery, 68 Park St. Discussion of the end-of-season awards for the girls' and boys' track teams, both with superior indoor and outdoor records this year, will be primary on the agenda.

Anyone interested in the Boosters' work is welcome and needed. The efforts and accomplishments of 170 boys and girls on Andover High School's track team are the Boosters primary concern. For further information, contact Joe Comeau or Peg Hughes.

Two More Victories For Girls

By Jen Hechemy

Under the coaching of Laura Goodman, the Andover High School girls' tennis team clinched two more victories, making their record 10-1.

The girls travelled to Methuen last Monday to take a 5-0 victory. Erin Kaufman won first singles in a great three sets 4-6, 6-3, 6-2. Liz Jurek won second singles 6-0, 6-3. Dianne Costa won third singles 6-0, 6-0. Ronnie Kovner and Lisa Weingarten won first doubles 6-1, 6-0 and Kim Guild and Liz Bakulski won second doubles 6-1, 6-4.

In J.V. action, Stephanie Bunker and Missy Labell won a tough match 6-7, 6-3, 7-6. Heather Ryan and Katie Higgins won 8-6 and Eszter Vajda won singles 8-1.

The girls travelled to Lawrence on Friday to win 5-0. Jen Hechemy won first singles 6-0, 6-1; Weingarten won second singles 6-0, 6-0; Guild won third singles 6-0, 6-2. Bakulski and Susan Namkung won first doubles 6-0, 6-1 and Vajda and Labell won 6-0, 6-0.

Higgins and Lori Thayer won 8-0 in J.V.s.

Girls Represent Andover In State Tourney

By Laura Goodman

Seven Andover High School students represented Andover's girls' tennis team in the Individual State Tournament on May 10 and 11 at Chelmsford High School.

Liz Jurek lost a tough match to Triton 2-6, 1-6. Co-captain Erin Kaufman won her first match 6-1, 6-1, yet lost in the second round to the no. 1 seed 1-6, 0-6. Junior Sue Clark, who was seeded fifth in the tournament, won her first match 2-6, 6-1, 6-1 but was defeated in the second round 4-6, 4-6.

The two doubles team, consisting of Hayley Hannigan and Lisa Weingarten and co-captain Ronnie Kovner and Jen Hechemy, made it to the quarter finals before being defeated. After beating Amesbury and the fifth seeded team from Chelmsford, Weingarten and Hannigan lost a two ½ hour match to Winchester 2-6, 6-3, 6-4. Hechemy and Kovner won their first two matches 7-5, 3-6, 7-6 (Academy of Notre Dame) and 6-3, 6-2 (Swampscott). Their third round versus the no. 4 seed team proved more difficult. They won the first set 6-4, lost the second 4-6, after losing a game that went to deuce 31 times, and came up short in the third set 5-7. The semifinals and finals will be held this weekend.

Pirates 9 - Red Sox 8

A seven-run fourth inning boosted the Pirates to a season opening victory over the Red Sox.

Instrumental in the big frame were Pete Cookson, who lined a two-run single, and Brian Novelline, who lifted a three-run homer.

Joe Iarrobino's Red Sox, as usual, refused to wilt despite a 9-3 deficit. Fueling a late rally were hits by Larry Gibson, Josh Nelken and Jeff Lembo, cutting the Pirate edge to 9-8.

But Novelline came on to fan the final Red Sox batter. Chris Zappala was credited with the mound victory while Andrew Novelline also impressed.

Cubs 10 - Twins 2

A talented Cub squad humbled the Twins in the season opener for both clubs.

Chris Hall turned in outstanding work, fanning 10 in just four frames while allowing zip for hits. Gus Quattlebaum relieved and was touched for just one hit off the bat of Paul Lisiak.

Jim Hanning, Gus Quattlebaum and Garrett Ferris, all had two hits. Brendan O'Neil also cracked a safety.

Defensive heroics were the realm of shortstop Quattlebaum and Twin outfielders Colin Sullivan and Ian Timmons.

Cards 8 - White Sox 3

Andrew Brown and Matt Harris combined on a two-hitter, lifting the Redbirds to a season-opening victory over the White Sox.

Steven Marchhlik lashed a bases-loaded hit in the first to put the Sox up 2-0. Rightfielder Dan Mooney gunned down a third Sox runner attempting to score, ending the ally.

The White Sox added another in the third before the Cards rallied in the third, fourth and fifth to put the game away. Jarrod Martellucci, Matt Harris and 10-year-old Brian Flanagan rapped the most devastating blows.

Brown hurled the first four frames for the win, fanning six. Harris mopped up, striking out four and allowing one hit.

Mets 8 - Orioles 7

The defending National League champion Mets engaged the Orioles in a thriller, with the Mets prevailing in the season opener for both clubs.

The Orioles struck first on singles by Ron Rygwalski and Brian Workman. The Mets countered with six second-inning runs, the key hits provided by Jim Landry, Ryan Evans, Ben Russell and Todd Murray.

The Orioles bounced back in the fourth, cutting the deficit 8-7. Paul Durant and Chad Bowman singled and Shawn Garrity walked. Rygwalski doubled home two, but a beautiful Murray-Russell-Evans relay cut Garrity down at the plate.

Shad Flaig then singled, scoring Rygwalski and Johnny Dwight. A Chethan Harish single brought Flaig home.

Defensively, Chad Bowman of the Orioles was perfect with three assists and a putout, while Catcher Dwight shone behind the plate. Centerfielder Rodd Malitsky made a fine stab.

Met pitchers Murray and Russell struck out 11, while first baseman Jamie Lionette snared a tough foul pop to end the game.

Twins 11 - Braves 5

The Braves hosted the Twins at South School field. The Twins sneaked one across in inning one on a single and heady base running by Ian Timmons.

The Braves had back-to-back doubles in their half by Richie Yost and Dan Waitkevitch. Yost, the Braves starting pitcher, settled down and blanked the Twins for two innings while his teammates opened a lead with single tallies in the second and third. Mike Sullivan provided the key hit with a double.

A series of walks in the fourth enabled the Twins to edge ahead 5-4. The Braves tied the game temporarily, but Colin Sullivan catalyzed a six-run rally by blasting a double and Ian Timmons clinched the win for the Twins by hammering a bases-loaded double.

Mets 9 - Red Sox 1

Jimmy Landry picked up a win on the mound the lead the Mets over the Red Sox.

Landry opened the game by singling, then stealing second and third. Doug Batchelder lofted a sacrifice fly to score him.

Walks then opened the door for the aggressive Mets. Ryan Evans spaced the walks with a pair of timely hits.

Defensively, Rich Radulski and Chris Marchetti stole the show.

The Red Sox managed to rap just three hits, with Josh Nelkin, Adam Ferry and Bob Conchiglia accounting for one apiece.

Cubs 11 - Orioles 3

The Cubs broke open a tight contest with a five-run fifth inning for their second win. A balanced hitting attack was led by Gus Quattlebaum, who contributed a perfect 4-for-4 day. Catcher Garrett Ferris singled, doubled and homered while rookie Ricky Saggese garnered his first major league hit.

Southpaw Jim Hanning earned the win, striking out nine over five innings. John Shea hurled a scoreless sixth inning, fanning two.

The Oriole hits were provided by Shawn Garrity and Adam Goddess. Shortstop Paul Durant excelled defensively for Botts Bowman's Orioles.

Cardinals 9 - Indians 6

Justin Hesenius stroked an RBI single and pitched three stellar innings in his mound debut to pace the Cardinals over the Indians.

He struck out seven before tiring in the fourth. Rookie Sam Pfeifle finished the game, striking out four in what was also his inaugural trip to the rubber.

The Cards were never behind and managed to tally scores in each inning. Key hits were delivered by Jarrod Martellucci, Dan Mooney and Hesenius. Ten-year-old Ricky Crispo connected for his first ever hit.

Mike Daly led the Indian hit parade with a pair of doubles. Matt Reghitto sprayed three hits while Ryan Kelley connected for two. Defensively, second baseman Tom Torrisi made the game's finest play by stabbing a liner off the bat of Jim Stratton.

White Sox 6 - Pirates 5

The White Sox, Andover's most improved team over a year ago, recorded their first triumph of the season with a dramatic come-from-behind victory over a talented Pirate squad.

Brian Novelline homered to left field for a 2-0 Pirate lead after one. They scored again in the second when Andy Novelline rapped an RBI bases-loaded single. The Sox stymied the rally, however, when Scott Eggert speared a sizzling line drive and tagged second for a double play.

The Pirates upped the ante to 5-0, but Manager Al Eggert's unit drew blood in the third. Three walks, then hits by Kevin Murphy and Bob Sheehan narrowed the Pirate lead. By the time Mike Famiglietti, Murphy and Sheehan had rapped hits in the fourth inning, the White Sox had assumed a 6-5 advantage.

Murphy took over the mound chores in the fourth and held the Pirates in check thereafter.

Cardinals 9 - Orioles 1

A six-run third inning was more than enough support for Cardinal ace Matt Harris. A league all-star last year at age 11, Harris hurled a three-hitter, striking out eight and fielding flawlessly. He also rapped a pair of hits.

Highlights of the third-inning rally were bases-loaded hits by Adam Galaburda and Justin Hesenius who would later connect for additional safeties. Jim Stratton and catcher Galaburda were outstanding defensively.

Oriole hits were laced by Paul Durant, Shawn Garrity and Ron Rygwalski. John Dwight accounted for the run while Chad Bowman displayed his defensive wizardry at second base.

Pirates 3 - Twins 2

Matt Daniels pitched the distance as the Pirates bettered their record to 2-1 with a 3-2 decisioning of the Twins. He did it the hard way, striking out the final batter with the bases loaded.

The Pirates were paced by a run-producing triple from Steve Corbett, an RBI single from Brendan Finneran and Brian Novelline's third "tater" in as many outings.

The Twins benefited from fine mound efforts from Greg Poor and Tim Plankey. Plankey also hit well, as did Mark McKenna, but support waned after that, due in large to the heat thrown by Daniels.

White Sox 8 - Braves 4

Hurlers Bob Sheehan and Scott Eggert overcame a stubborn Brave outfit to pick up their second consecutive decision. They limited the Tribe to five safeties while striking out eight.

Three hits and a pair of Sox miscues jettisoned the Braves to a 4-3 edge after three. But the White Sox erupted for five tallies in the fourth, highlighted by back-to-back doubles from Eggert and Sheehan.

A variety of affairs led to the final Sox runs. Offensive game stars for the White Sox were Eggert and Murphy with two hits apiece, Sheehan, John Mellillo and Steve Marchlik. Defensive stalwarts included Mellilo, Jimmy Ofria and Colin Arsenault.

Brave standouts were Lee Farr, Kevin Lane and Bill Owens.

White Sox 3 - Mets 2

In a nearly flawless game, the White Sox squeaked past the Mets. Kevin Murphy went the distance for the Sox, fanning 12 while walking five.

The Mets took the lead in the first when Jim Landry singled, Ben Russell rapped a base hit and Landry scampered home during the ensuing chaos.

The White Sox came back in the third when Scott Eggert singled and Bob Sheehan connected for a home, giving the Sox a 2-1 edge. The Mets knotted the score with a Ryan Evans RBI single in the bottom of the inning.

Murphy led off the sixth by smashing a double to right. A passed ball advanced him to third and Jon Mellillo squeezed him home for the deciding run.

The Mets loaded the bases in the last of the sixth, but Sheehan got the final out on a force at second.

Besides Murphy's outstanding two-way game, White Sox stars included Eggert with two hits, Jimmy Ofria with a triple and Steve Marchlik.

Met leaders were Landry, Russell, Evans and Jamie Lionette.

Twins 8 - Cardinals 7

The Cardinals built a 7-2 advantage on the strength of a Justin Hesinius homer and Adam Galaburda double with the sacks stacked. Speedy rightfielder Dan Mooney was chasing down everything the twins hit.

But the Twins strung together hits from Todd Cadagan, Robert Miele and Tim Plankery to made it 7-4 after five. Plankey struck again in the sixth as did Colin Sullivan. A pair of bases-loaded walks tied the game sending Paul Lysiak to the plate. He ricocheted a hopper back to Cardinal pitcher Hesinius who made an outstanding grab and fired home. But the catcher was unable to handle the toss as Todd Cadagan scampered across with the deciding score.

Red Sox 15 - Cardinals 7

The young Red Sox thrashed the Cardinals, scoring early and often.

They took advantage of virtually every Cardinal walk and miscue to seal things quickly. Eye openers included an Adam Ferry round-tripper, two Chris Lembo hits, two Jeff Lembo safeties and alert baserunning by all.

Chris Lembo went the distance on the rubber, striking out seven while walking just one.

Cardinal highlights included a pair of Jarrod Martellucci doubles, two Matt Harris ropes and a couple of Andrew Brown singles.

Mets 7 - Twins 0

The first four Met batters managed to strike paydirt as coach Bill Batcheler's troops stuck to their winning ways by hammering the Twins.

Ben Russell's double and Richard Radulski's single were the catalysts. Twin hurler Keith Bilger settled down after the first, but his effectiveness was for naught.

Met pitcher Todd Murray prudently tossed strikes throughout his three-inning stint, allowing just two hits.

The Mets rallied in inning three when Russell again connected for extra bases with the sacks stacked. He concluded his extraordinary day by pitching three near-perfect frames of relief, striking out seven while earning the save.

Orioles 13 - Braves 6

The Orioles defeated the Braves 13-6 for their first win of the young season. Paul Durant and Rodd Malitsky shared Oriole pitching duties with Malitsky picking up the win with three innings of two-hit, shutout relief.

The Braves scored five runs in the first inning. Lee Farr led off with a single followed by a base hit by Scott Hallecki. Mike Sullivan dropped a perfect bunt to load the bases. A pair of Oriole errors and a base on balls resulted in the Brave lead.

The Orioles tied the game in the third with five of their own. Johnny Bowman walked, Brian Workman reached on a fielder's choice, Durant singled to load the bases for Adam Goddess who tripled to deep right center, clearing the bases. Ron Rygwalski singled Goddess home and later scored on a Brave error.

A series of walks and a Malitsky base hit resulted in four runs in the Oriole fourth to break the tie. The Orioles added four insurance runs in the sixth when Chad Bowman, Goddess, Rygwalski and Chethan Harish contributed base hits.

The Braves' third baseman, Dana DiFiore, made a beautiful play in the first of a shot off the bat of Shawn Garrity. Oriole outfielders Johnny Dwight, Shad Flaig and Johnny Bowman made nice running grabs in key situations. Second baseman Chad Bowman speared a line drive in the third by the Braves' Bill Owens to kill a rally.

Cubs 11 - White Sox 7

The Cubs built an early 10-1 advantage, then sweated out a barrage of White Sox round trippers, before wrapping up an 11-7 win.

Garrett Ferris cracked a three-run homer, Jim Hanning and John Shea rapped two hits apiece and Ryan Lynch doubled to help give the Cubs a seemingly insurmountable advantage.

Chris Hall limited the White Sox to just one hit. However, that hit, by Robert Sheehan, cleared the fence.

Hanning came on to relieve. Scott Eggert tagged him for a homer, as did Kevin Murphy, but he settled down to cap the win.

The sun weighs about 2.2 billion billion billion tons.

Charles Lindbergh was the 79th person to fly over the Atlantic, but the first to do it alone.

Wilfred N. Beaucher, M.D., F.A.C.P. of Allergy-Immunology Associates has returned from the annual meeting of the American College of Physicians held in San Francisco. A scientific paper, of which Dr. Beaucher is a co-author, reported on the results of treating asthma patients with a new 24-hour lasting theophylline asthma medication.

The Methuen doctor's office was one of six national study sites where patients suffering from asthma that was especially bad at night were treated. The results presented at this meeting reported the excellent results of treating nocturnal asthma with this new medication.

J.B. Doherty Realtors, Inc.: Three in a Row

Recently, J.B. Doherty Associates, Inc., was cited for a special award from the RELO Service, a nation-wide referral network of independent Realtors to which they belong. For sales of more than $1,000,000 in relocation transactions alone for 1985, the agency has been honored as a member of the "RELO Million Dollar Referral Sales Club."

It is quite an honor to be so highly recognized among the Services' 1,200 nationwide member companies. But J.B. Doherty, Inc., is no stranger to the Million Dollar Club; this is the agency's third consecutive year as a member.

Last year, as a RELO member, J.B. Doherty, Inc., helped more than 100 transferring individuals and their families find homes in this area.

But the service works two ways. For those whose job will require a relocation, J.B. Doherty, Inc., has access to homes and communities throughout the country. That access goes beyond house-finding; it reaches into the vital information a transferring homeowner needs in order to choose and feel comfortable in a new location—information about the town's make-up, layout, school system, tax structure and facilities.

RELO's no-cost, no-obligation service, and its extensive network, is one facet in the tradition of outstanding service that owners Joe and Chris Doherty have built into their business over the years. Staff efficiency is another: All members of the J.B. Doherty Associates team are required to maintain a peak level of education and training to better serve in their complicated, competitive field.

J.B. Doherty, Inc., is firmly rooted in the community it serves. Both Doherties are Andover natives; each has been in Real Estate for approximately 13 years.

Joseph Doherty, Jr., serves as president of the Greater Lawrence Board of Realtors. And Joseph Doherty, Sr., a current board member and past president of the National Association of Realtors, acts as consultant to his sons' agency.

For buying or selling Real Estate in—or out of—the Andover area, J.B. Doherty Realtors, Inc., has the knowledge and the network you need. J.B. Doherty Realtors, 9 Bartlet St., is open every day, and can be reached 24 hours a day at 475-5970.

Nargozian Oriental Rug Workshop

A prospective buyer of Oriental rugs faces a confusing array of foreign names and labels. Even more confusing are such basic considerations as rug type, design, rarity, dyes and weave quality, and how these elements determine market value.

We can dispel the confusion. Call us at 475-5211 or 489-4070 for a private consultation at no fee. Tell us your price range, and we'll show you a selection in your area at home. You'll discover how our collection enhances your traditional setting to express your decorative individuality.

Or come browse through our display at Andover Antiques, 188 N. Main St., Andover. We don't have rows of thick handmade Orientals; just selected pieces. But we can get any size, any shape, and any color—from all over the world.

You may take any carpet home and try it out. We will lay it for you, and will pick it up if you decide against it.

As our customers will attest, our mark-up on carpets is quite small—only a fraction of that commonly charged by Boston area dealers. We believe in fair prices, not sale prices. You can buy the Oriental rug of your dreams today through us, instead of waiting for their twice-a-year sale to match our prices.

Because we realize that a truly fine carpet is a sizeable investment, we can arrange reasonable time payments. We also accept Visa and Mastercard.

Our policy ensures that your Oriental will never lose its value.

Properly cared for and free from defects, our rugs may be exchanged at any time for at least the original purchase price.

We are also experts in hand-washing and restoration—a process that requires extensive knowledge, detailed hand work and patience. We draw on five generations of carpet knowledge and technique passed down with pride through the Nalbandian family, a trusted name in Middle-Eastern dealership and restoration since 1827.

For appraisals, buying and selling, cleaning, restoration, and information, call me. The more you know about Oriental rugs, the more you value us.

May Artist

The collages of Mary Ross of Brighton are on display at Memorial Hall Library. With her background in painting firmly established by her years at Massachusetts College of Art, Ross also studied at Boston University and the Museum of Fine Arts School. Combining handmade Japanese paper and acrylic paint, she gives these collages a free, airy, Oriental look. Ross has exhibited throughout New England and received numerous awards. She is a member of the Cambridge Art Association, Marion Art Center and the Copley Society.

Book Discussion

ADVERSE POSSESSION

The law has made a public policy decision that land should be used, and not lie idle. This is the underlying reason for a principle known as "adverse possession". This means that if you use land as your own - even though you don't have a deed or other title document - you will eventually become its owner.

This legal principle does not come into operation in cases where the land is being leased or rented, or if permission in any other way is given by the true owner. Rather, the use of the land by the one claiming adverse possession must meet all of these requirements: the possession must be open, continuous (for the minimum period in each state, usually 15 to 20 years) exclusive, adverse, and notorious. An occasional use of the land is not sufficient to ripen into title by adverse possession.

If you own land which someone else is using without your permission, you could lose title to the land if you wait too long. Don't let this happen to you.

Last week, our very good friend, Thomas B. Driscoll, passed away suddenly. We cannot let this week go by without paying tribute to him and his family. We don't know of any other family who was as loving and close as the Driscoll clan.

Tom would do anything for them and we, his friends, also benefited from his thoughtful, caring ways. His passing will leave a great void in our lives - HE SURELY WILL BE MISSED!!

REAL ESTATE GUIDELINES

By Robert Bryan
Realty U.S.A.
Schruender Real Estate

HELP FOR HOUSE HUNTERS

Finding a good Realtor that you like and trust is the first step in finding your new home.

You can call or stop by a company in your area. Ask to talk to the manager, and explain what type of home you're looking for. He or she can then refer you to an agent who knows that market very well and with whom you could work comfortably. You might also use weekend open houses as a chance to look for an agent as well as a new home. It's really a matter of chemistry! If you meet someone you like and who seems knowledgeable, call him back.

Once you establish a good working relationship with a Realtor, he can show you almost all of the homes for sale in the area where you want to purchase, even if they're listed with other companies or for sale by owner. He will be able to show you a property as soon as it is placed on the market (many of the best homes never even make it to the Sunday classified section of the newspaper).

If there's a move in your future, call the professionals at Realty USA, Schruender Real Estate. Our number is 685-5000 or just drop by our office at 73 Chickering Road, North Andover. We're happy to serve all your real estate needs.

Get The Jump On Crabgrass

There may be literally thousands of crabgrass seed under your lawn just waiting for early spring temperatures to hit 55 degrees and hold there for two weeks. The best way to prevent them from messing up your lawn is to prevent the seeds from ever germinating. "Advance planning is necessary to keep crabgrass under control," says Dr. Eliot Roberts, director of the Lawn Institute, a non-profit corporation which encourages improvement of lawns through research and public education.

According to Roberts, proper lawn conditions that promote vigorous grass growth will discourage crabgrass from the beginning. Fertile topsoil no less than six inches deep, proper mowing and watering of lawns can team up to place crabgrass at a disadvantage in competing for sunlight, water and nutrients.

Soil acidity can play an important role in stopping crabgrass. In most instances, soil pH, or degree of acidity, should be kept above 6.5 with lime applications. A lawn's pH level can be determined by home soil-testing kits

Choosing Colors For Seasonal Decorating

One method of color selection for decorating is the seasonal color theory system which is popular with fashion consumers.

According to the theory, everyone can be categorized as belonging to one season of the year by their skin, hair and eye coloring and the colors of that season that are most flattering to them. Fashion consumers purchase clothes according to their season and decorating consumers plan their homes so that they are surrounded with their most flattering colors.

National Decorating Products Association (NDA) says more and more decorating center customers are requesting assistance in color selection using the seasonal theory. NDPA represents 7,000 decorating center stores in the United States and Canada.

Spring is statistically America's favorite color palette for decorating, regardless of the purchaser's true natural season. Many traditional colors are included in this group, including clear, bright greens, blues, yellows and pinks.

Summer people often choose soft colors such as light blue, rose brown, navy blue, rose pink, lavender and plum.

Autumns, which have the widest range of color intensity within their palette, can decorate with both muted and clear colors. Dark brown, camel, beige, orange, gold, warm red and moss green are best for people who fall into this category.

The stark contrasts of winter's colors produce an effect of high drama when used in decorating. The colors which provide the most flattering background for winter decorators are navy blue, black, white, bright red, gray, shocking pink and deep blue.

What to do if one member of the family is one season and another is a different season? Try choosing compatible colors from each of the two seasons, using colors from one for background and accent with colors from the other.

According to NDA, however, it is important to remember that seasonal color theories provide fun decorating guidelines, but more importantly, the end result must be pleasing and, most of all, livable.

Efficient Lighting Saves Money

Turning on the lights is one of the most automatic things we do at home—so automatic, in fact, that we often fail to use lighting efficiently. By planning your lighting needs, choosing specific lights for specific needs and purchasing light bulbs wisely, you can keep your living space bright while at the same time cut down on your energy use and your monthly bills.

Lighting is one of the best values for the money when it comes to electricity. A 100-watt light bulb uses about one kilowatt-hour of electricity when lighted for ten hours. In comparison, an electric range surface unit will use as much as 23 kilowatt-hours, the oven as much as 32, a washer as much as 5 and a dryer as much as 50. Overall, lighting represents about 10 percent of the total electricity used in the average home. You can increase the efficiency of lighting in your home and lower monthly bills by understanding all of the options available.

Quality lighting is designed to give the most useful light output for each unit of energy input. In buying a light bulb, you should be aware of three ratings: watts, lumens and bulb life.

Watts measure the amount of electricity that goes into the bulb, not the amount of light you necessarily get out of it. The brightness of the bulb does not always reflect the wattage.

Lumens measure the actual light output, which is the bulb's brightness. The more lumens, the brighter the bulb. The amount of light needed to illuminate a home is about five to 60 lumens for outdoors (at night), 60 to 125 lumens for indoors and 600 to 1000 lumens for specific tasks.

The bulb life is the length of time before the filament is expected to burn out. Standard bulbs, which last about 750 hours and generally cost less to buy, provide more light than long life bulbs, which burn for about 2500 hours and cost more. For example, a standard bulb might produce 1750 lumens, while a long life bulb may only produce 1470 lumens, or 20 percent less brightness.

Understanding these facts can help you purchase bulbs for your home more wisely. Consider exactly how the bulb will be used. How much light do you really need? How much money do you want to spend? How often do you want to change the bulb? For example, it often is more efficient to spend a little more for a long life bulb for a hard-to-reach place, such as an outside fixture or closet ceiling where maximum light is not needed. The key is to plan your lighting purchases to fit your specific needs.

According to the Edison Electric Institute, fluorescent lighting is something to consider. It produces up to five times as much light for the same energy and lasts 10 to 20 times longer than incandescent bulbs. Over the long run, fluorescent bulbs have been found to actually cost less than incandescents.

Lighting

For three-way fixtures, the major producers offer two-way fluorescent lighting delivering the brightness level of a 50-watt and 100-watt incandescent, but doing it on 16 and 44 watts.

Manufacturers now produce fluorescent lights in bulbs which emit "soft white" light and work well in home living areas. Regular fluorescent bulbs emit a somewhat harsher "cool white" light and are appropriate for the garage, workshop, basement and attic.

Any household ceiling fixture can be converted to a fluorescent light with new fluorescent fixtures. The tubes for these fixtures are available in 22, 32 and 40-watt sizes that lasts 10 to 25 times longer than incandescent bulbs.

The Edison Electric Institute offers these additional suggestions in making efficient use of lighting in your home.

- Always turn off unnecessary lights. Even if a light is turned off for 15 minutes, there can be a saving in both energy and money. For example, 100-watt light bulb turned off for two hours in an unused room each evening for one month will save six kilowatt hours of electricity or about 25-30 cents worth of electricity. Multiply that amount by all the unnecessary light bulbs left on each month and you may run into a significant amount of money.

- Dimmers, which allow you to control the brightness of a light fixture, also can save you energy and money. A dimmer can be permanently installed to replace a wall switch, as a substitute for a regular light socket or in feed-through switches that fit anywhere on a cord. Dimmers are appropriate in areas where varying light levels are desired.

- Timers are primarily used as safety devices to turn lights on and off at various hours when the house is vacant. If you forget to turn off lights, a timer will remember for you. Timers plug into a regular wall socket or come as a separate unit with the lamp plugged directly into the timer.

- Three-way bulbs provide three levels of light. For greatest savings, use the lowest level of light for television viewing and conversation and the higher levels for tasks like reading or sewing.

Home Budget Saving Ideas

Consumers can use less energy and save money by taking a close look at how they use energy at home. This can be achieved by following a few energy saving tips:

- Set the furnace thermostat between 65 and 70 degrees in winter and at least five degrees lower when sleeping or away. Higher heating temperatures are recommended where the sick, elderly or infants reside. In summer, set the air conditioner thermostat at 78 to 80 degrees.

- A water heater is a major energy user, according to the American Gas Association. Try a lower thermostat setting. Install water flow restrictors in shower heads and faucets—they cut hot water use without affecting family comfort. When replacing a water heater, choose an energy-efficient model.

- Fully load clothes dryers and dishwashers to save energy. Turn off unnecessary lights and appliances.

- Consumers on a low or fixed income are eligible to apply for federal money to assist in paying utility bills. Don't ignore payments if you are late—call the utility. It may have a budget plan to help.

- Clean or replace filters as needed in heating and cooling systems. Close vents in unused rooms and insulate ducts and pipes in unheated spaces. Keep direct sunlight out of living spaces in summer, but let in during winter; it helps warm the room.

- Attics and their doors should be insulated to the recommended level. Find out what the level is at a store that sells insulation. Check under floors, around basements, crawl spaces and foundation walls for adequate insulation, too. And exterior walls may need insulation. Consider purchasing storm windows and doors or double-paned glass to keep in heat and air conditioning.

Your Home: Buying And Selling Tips

The search for a new home takes time, patience and most importantly, skill. Research shows that the average home buyer looks at 12 different properties before making a new home purchase. Such factors as location of the home, its energy efficiency, size, design and proximity to schools, work and shopping are carefully weighed before a final decision is made.

If you're currently in the market for a new home, it's important that you make a thorough inspection of the one you've chosen prior to purchase. Naturally there'll be different items to look for depending on whether you're considering an older home or a new one, but the key areas for you to check are structural stability, energy efficient qualities and plumbing and heating systems. With the investment of a little time, you can do a good inspection job on your own. The CertainTeed Home Institute recommends using the following checklist if you're considering buying a home:

Roof and gutters: Look carefully to make sure shingles are in good condition. Check to see that gutters are not rusted, bent or non-existent.

Heating up: Turn the furnace on for at least 15 minutes to see if it runs smoothly and quietly. Check for oil stains and signs of wear. Ask how old it is. The average furnace can be expected to last about 25-35 years.

Energy efficiency: Check the insulation levels in the home to determine if they are adequate for your geographic area. Look to see if the home is caulked or weatherstripped. See if storm windows and screens are in good condition.

Water: Check the condition of the pipes by turning on the sink faucets in the upstairs bathroom, then turn on the tub. If the water level drops more than 25 percent, the home may have a problem with pipe corrosion.

It pays to be a smart consumer when shopping for a home. If you do notice any problems, get an estimate for repairs and use that information when negotiating price.

Selling A Home

If you're selling a home, obviously you're not interested in spending the money on major home improvement projects. It can, however, be quite beneficial for you to consider less costly projects to make your home more attractive to potential buyers. The CertainTeed Home Institute recommends the following low cost home improvement projects:

- Caulk and weatherstrip cracks around doors and windows.

- Add insulation in the attic to bring your home up to today's energy standards for your area of the country. Upgrading insulation levels is easy to do, millions of homeowners have added insulation such as CertainTeed's fiber glass batts or rolls to their attics in a single afternoon.
- If trim on your home is worn or peeling, paint it.

Home

Nearly 3/4 of all home buyers in a recent national home-buying survey conducted by the National Association of Realtors, cited an energy efficient home, one that consumes energy wisely, as a very important factor in their purchasing decision. In fact, many respondents were more concerned that the home be energy efficient than how close it was to shopping and transportation.

According to the CertainTeed Home Institute, the things to be most concerned about in terms of energy efficiency when buying a home include:

Attic insulation: Check to see if the attic, including the attic door, has the recommended level of insulation for your geographic area.

Floor, easement, crawl space and foundation wall insulation: Check for adequate levels of insulation under floors, around the basement, crawl space and foundation walls.

Windows and doors: Check to see if your prospective home has storm windows, doors or doublepaned glass to keep in the cool in summer and heat in winter.

Caulking and weatherstripping: Check to see if all cracks around windows, doors and other openings such as pipes have been caulked or weatherstripped.

Ducts and pipes: Are they insulated in unheated spaces of the home?

Water heater: Is it insulated? It should be.

Clock thermostat: Does the home have a clock thermostat? It's an added benefit in terms of energy efficiency if it does.

Automatic furnace ignition system: Is there an automatic furnace ignition system in the home? Again, it's an extra energy efficient benefit if it does.

Remember, buyers of energy efficient homes are receiving better breaks from lending institutions who are willing to relax income standards. The rationale is that owners of energy efficient homes will spend less on cooling and heating; therefore, will have more income available to make house payments; thus, buyers can borrow more money.

Prepare For Summer Comfort

Summertime; when thoughts turn toward golf courses, tennis courts, fishing, the beaches and toward air conditioners.

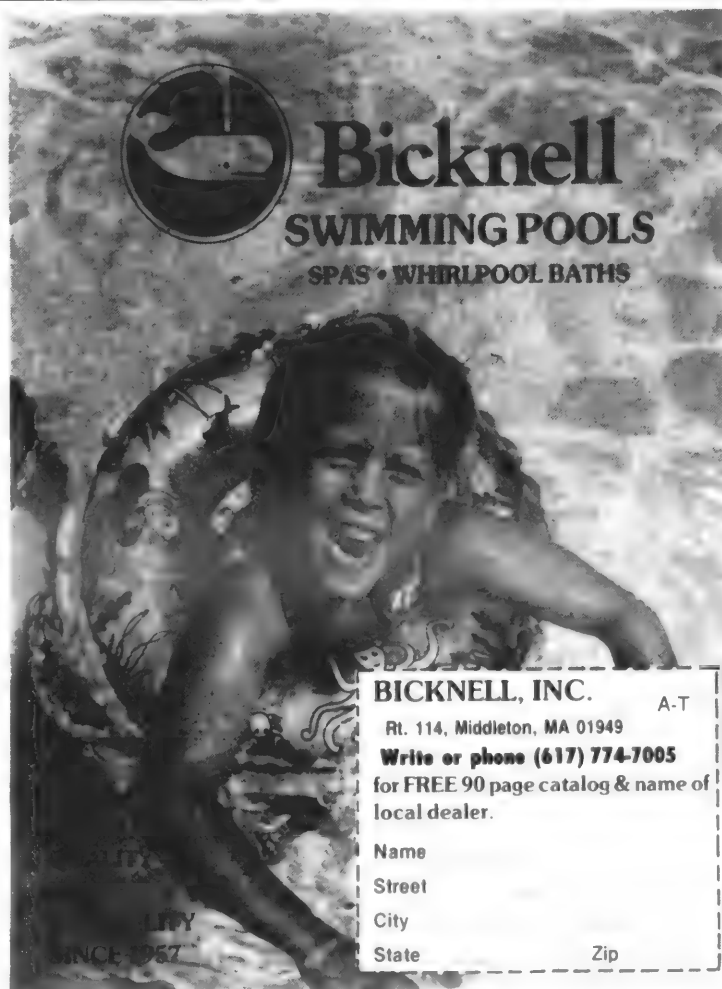

No matter how much we love the season, there's no denying that along with the sun and fun comes uncomfortably muggy nights and sweltering temperatures that simply cannot be ignored. That's when most people decide they must have an air conditioner, now!

According to home economists from Whirlpool Corporation, that is also probably the worst time to buy one. In their haste to cool off, many consumers buy whatever is available rather than taking time to make a careful selection of an air conditioner that is the proper size, voltage and cooling capacity.

The home economists advise that anytime is the best time to think about the purchase of an air conditioner. Make a list of your requirements: size of the area to be cooled, method of installation you need, in a window or through a wall, number of windows in the room and what direction they face, and how well the roof is insulated and what kind of wiring and electrical outlets are available. Once you have answered these questions, you'll be equipped with the information needed by a salesman to help you select a model that fits your specific needs.

Plan to make your list now. Even if you decide to wait until those sizzling days of summer to actually buy an air conditioner, you'll be able to make the right selection. After all, an air conditioner is an investment in your family's comfort and one you'll be living with for many summers to come.

Try Ground Cover For A Care-Free Lawn

Mowing, raking and tending a lawn through the growing season could make any homeowner consider paving his yard and painting it green. But there are easy ways to have a goodlooking lawn and lots of leisure time, without paying someone to do it for you.

One alternative to the high-maintenance grass lawn is planting ground cover. Its low-maintenance and versatility, along with year-round good looks can solve many gardening problems and trouble spots. There is a variety of ground cover for any growing condition; damp, dry, sunny or shady. The lawn and garden expert at your local hardware store, home center or garden center will know the type to recommend for your specific climate and needs.

Some of the most popular types of ground cover include Periwinkle, popular for its veratility and hardiness, and Mother of Thyme, for its endurance and growth in poor soil and dry conditions. Stonecrop can be used in hot, dry areas, and will flower profusely. Pachysandra, also known as Japanese Spurge, is ideal for planting under shady, shallow-rooted trees or on banks.

Plantain Lillies grow well in deep shade under trees; blue/purple summer flowers.

Barren Strawberry does well in full sun to light shade; good in warmer climates.

Bugles grow in full sun to deep shade; fast-growing.

Several varieties of carpet-forming violets vary in light needs.

Virginia Creeper is fast-growing on banks and in shade; will climb trees and shrubs.

Winter Creeper is shrubby; suitable for banks in variety of lighting conditions

Snow in Summer is fast-growing on hot, dry banks and in rocky soil.

Pinks do well in full sun; requires high lime content in soil.

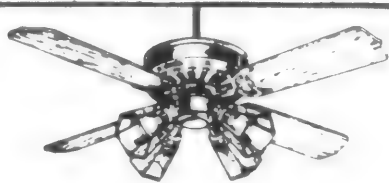

Bedstraws is good in poor soil with full sun; must be pruned periodically.

Creeping Juniper is a hardy evergreen; grows well in full sun.

Evergreen Candytuft grows well in moist soil with full sun.

Home Improvements Can Save Consumers

Painting, caulking, weather stripping, insulation, storm windows and the replacement of old appliances, including heating and cooling systems, are all good ways to save energy and reduce utility bills.

Consumers faced with the major investment of replacing a home heating system should select the most efficient, cost effective heating system, according to the American Gas Association.

According to Department of Energy studies, natural gas heating systems are highly efficient and natural gas is priced about 30 percent below heating oil and up to four times less than electric heat on a national average basis.

New natural gas furnaces have efficiencies of up to 97 percent. Other features include automatic vent dampers which prevent warm air from escaping up the chimney when the furnace is off, more efficient burners and heat transfer technology. This keeps the house warmer for longer periods of time, saving gas and money because the heating system is required to run less, A.G.A. says.

Except in extremely cold weather, a furnace does not run constantly. It cycles on and off to maintain the temperature called for by the thermostat. When the furnace is off, some of the heated air in the house moves naturally through the furnace and can escape up the flue.

The vent damper, a circular metal plate fitted inside the flue pipe, operated by a motor linked to the furnace's controls, closes off this escape route.

When the thermostat calls for heat and the furnace goes on, the damper opens. When the furnace shuts off, the damper closes, keeping the warm air from escaping. Since the house cools off at a slower rate, the thermostat calls for heat less often.

New gas furnaces also save money by replacing the continually-burning pilot with intermittent ignition systems. With an I.I.S., a tiny electrical spark jumps across a tiny gap to ignite the pilot and then the furnace.

Only a minute amount of energy is needed with an I.I.S. The amount of gas saved over the lifetime of the furnace can be impressive.

When compared to older gas furnaces, a new energy-efficient gas heating system with vent damper and I.I.S., can save a homeowner hundreds of dollars in lifetime operating costs, according to A.G.A. studies.

Aluminum Windows Save Energy, Upgrade Looks

Looking for some permanent relief from high air-conditioning and heating bills? The solution may be simpler than you think.

Deteriorated windows, which often are the greatest cause of home energy loss, can be replaced quickly with energy-efficient aluminum-framed windows. Despite their rigidity and strength, the units are lightweight and easy to handle. The whole job requires less than an hour per window.

Aluminum framing materials resist hot-weather expansion and cold-weather contraction. That means the aluminum won't invite drafts by pulling away from weather stripping.

In colder climates, for additional energy savings, use thermalized aluminum windows. These windows have two or more layers of glass with a built-in insulation barrier between the inner and outer portions of the frame.

This "thermal break" keeps heat or cold from being conducted directly through the frame. And the dry air sealed between the layers of glass actually adds even more insulation while preventing condensation on the inside surfaces of the panes.

You will appreciate the low-maintenance quality of aluminum. Scraping and repainting every few years is unnecessary because the finish-baked on at the factory—never peels, flakes, blisters, rots or rusts. As a result, aluminum windows often retain their attractiveness throughout the lifetime of the home.

Aluminum windows come in styles and sizes for every requirement. Now may be a good time to revive the appearance of your home with a new style.

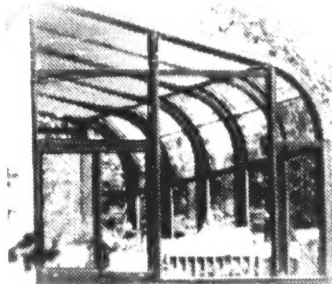

A bay window in place of a plate-glass window might make a big difference. Or an attractive greenhouse window above the kitchen sink could support a herb garden.

If cost is a consideration, you can always add replacement windows one room at a time. Aluminum windows are priced competitively with other types. Most thermalized aluminum windows are less expensive.

High quality aluminum windows are a sound investment in the appearance and energy-efficiency of your home. The sooner the investment is made, the sooner it begins paying dividends.

Family Roles Reflected In Today's Kitchens

Today it's not enough for a kitchen to be attractive and functional. It must also be adaptable to changing family roles, eating habits and methods of food preparation.

How can you be sure the kitchen you are remodeling today will continue to meet your family's needs five or 10 years from now? Kitchen planning experts at Home-Crest Corporation say plan ahead and anticipate future changes by answering these basic questions:

How is the kitchen used?

Is it used strictly for food preparation or does it serve as an activity center? For many busy families, the kitchen has become the family gathering point. That's one reason for the trend toward larger, open-plan kitchens that are designed to host all kinds of activities from craft projects to homework.

Who uses the kitchen?

What are their habits? In homes where both adults work, meals may be a family project. This may call for separate food preparation, double sinks or larger aisles. If there's a baker or canner in the household, you can create a special work island with counter and storage space tailored to his or her specialty.

Is organization a problem?

Many families who share kitchen duties find organized meal preparation easier when there is a place for everything. The built-in practicality of new European-inspired cabinetry can help. The flush styling that originated in Europe creates an uncluttered look that is easy to keep neat.

Home-Crest's Concept II cabinetry has a wide variety of built-ins that can help bring order to the busiest families, including appliance garages, lazy Susans, pantries, microwave cabinets and shelving for bookcases.

What about cleanup?

The cleanup crew will also appreciate the practical easy-care surfaces that are standard with many European-style cabinets. Concept II has tough, wipe-clean melamine outside and vinyl inside. This type of surface won't mar like wood can and even the worst spills wipe right up.

The popular almond color reflects light well, giving the kitchen a brighter, airier look and neutral shades make it easier to change color schemes.

Is the family changing?

A well-thought-out kitchen must adapt as the family matures. For example, a low counter now used by preschoolers for snacks and scribbling can become an ideal spot for quick meals or science projects in a few years. A homework desk can be turned into a computer learning center later. A mobile food preparation island needed for big family meals can become a buffet later.

These lifestyle considerations can help ensure that the dream kitchen you design today won't be a disappointment 10 years from now.

Use diluted ammonia to remove bath-oil rings from bathtubs.

Time For Springtime Boiler Check

This may be fix-up time around the house, but some people focus only on the exterior. Spring is an excellent time to be looking over the interior as well.

"There is no better time to have your heating system checked than right now," says Larry Herker, vice president of Weil-McLain, a leading boiler manufacturer. "Too many people wait until winter is upon them. If you have it done now, you could probably save yourself some money," he says.

Herker points out that spring is generally the slowest time for heating contractors. Routine boiler maintenance makes for a more efficient heating system and keeps those energy dollars from escaping up the chimney.

It may be the heating contractor only needs to clean and adjust the boiler. Sometimes soot builds up and reduces the amount of useful heat available for comfort. Of, if the burner on your oil boiler is a non-retention type, now's the time to replace it with a high-efficiency flame retention burner.

Your boiler may be oversized for your home, especially if you have taken energy saving measures, like better insulation, in recent years. Have the contractor reduce the fuel firing rate of an over-sized boiler. Or, if your boiler is 10 years old or more, replacing it with a new high-efficiency boiler could mean up to 40 percent in annual fuel savings.

Most of these are factors only a heating contractor can tell you. Spending the money for a checkup now could save a homeowner a lot of money in years to come.

Caulking Saves Money In Summer Months

Just because warm weather is here doesn't mean your home's air leak problems are over. Those same leaks that allowed cold air into your home during the winter also let warm air in during the summer, which is not what you want, considering the high cost of air conditioning.

There are four areas in a home where air leaks are most likely to occur: between the foundation and sole plate, at wall outlets and in the duct system and around windows. After carefully examining your home for air leaks, take time to caulk.

To stop those persistent air leaks, seal them with a durable and cost-effective caulk such as Geocel Exterior Caulking Sealant. This unique caulk remains flexible for years and will not dry up and crumble away as most inexpensive caulks often do.

Geocel Exterior Caulking Sealant provides excellent adhesion between dissimilar building materials, including glass, wood, brick and concrete. The bond actually improves with age and weathering. It stretches twice as much as many silicone caulks to withstand stress created by temperature changes.

Gas Grill Cooking Tips

The natural gas grill provides dependable outdoor cooking with a convenient fuel supply. The American Gas Association recommends these energy saving tips when using a gas grill:

- Limit preheating time.
- Use only one burner on dual burner grills unless both burners are needed.
- Use the lowest flame setting possible.
- Cook with the grill cover closed for more smoked flavor and shorter cooking times.
- Cook slow cooking foods on grill to keep heat out of the kitchen and save on air conditioning.
- Cook several foods or entire meals at one time on the grill.
- Cook a full grill of steaks or burgers. Reheat extras later.
- Thaw frozen foods before grilling unless otherwise directed.
- Use a thermometer or timer to eliminate over or under cooking.
- Keep "burn-off" cleaning time to a minimum.
